NOTIFICATIONS.

The 2nd September 1884.

No. 133.—The following description of the boundaries of the Town of Mysore having been approved by the Dewan, is published for general information :—

From a point 500 feet north of the centre of a bridge in 86th mile 6th furlong Mysore-Seringapatam road, the boundary passes to the eastward along the north side of a path through the gardens, along the centre of a water course for about 300 feet, then straight to meet the old Seringapatam road at a point where two foot-paths join it. From this point on the old Seringapatam road the boundary line goes straight in a south-westerly direction to a point on the Damanur tank road 20 feet to the north-east of a tope of "goni trees" from the tope straight to a point 20 feet from the north-east corner of the Nawab's Bhavi.

From Nawab's Bhavi straight to the point where the village road to Katmanhalli leaves the Karanji tank feeder; then straight to the edge of the old fort ditch, then easterly skirting the fort trench to the north-east corner.

From the north-east corner of the old fortification the boundary line passes due south for about 920 feet, and then runs straight to a point on the Bannur road 290 feet east of its junction with the Chamundi Hill road measured from the junction of the roads' inner drains.

The boundary then joins the Chamundi Hill road runs along its eastern side, goes round the village of Kumbarhalli, and joins the road again at the junction with the Karanji tank road.

It then runs along southern side of the Karanji tank and Race Course roads' goes over the bund of the Gobbikere tank to where the road to Chamundi steps crosses the feeder, and then along the road, taking in Gasappa Togachi Matha and meets the Mysore-Nanjangud road 235 feet south of the tunnel through which the surplus from the Dodkere tank passes. This point is in the 8th furlong of the 89th mile.

The boundary then follows the crooked path through the gardens, all of which path is not shown on the tracing and meets the Halé Agrahara road in its 89th mile 7th furlong 160 feet from the 7th furlong stone.

The boundary then goes straight to the corner of the Dodkere feeder, follows the lower bank of the feeder to its turn at the head of the valley passes along the west side of water course and south side of village road, round Kannegaudankoppal, and along the west side of the village road to where it joins the main water supply distribution channel, then along the boundary of channel land for some distance, and then straight to the road at rear of Kukarhalli tank bund leaving the Distillery on the east.

The line is then taken straight to a point 60 feet to the westward of the Kukarhalli feeder, it then turns northward to a point 245 feet to the eastward of the junction of the old and new roads near Padvarhalli, then round Padvarhalli village, along the west side of the village road to where it joins the Jivanraokere feeder, along the northern bank of the feeder to Dhannikatte along the west side of the village road to where it meets Hundihalla ; along the Hundihalla through the Railway bridge, along the west side of Purnaiya's Nullah to the Jodi Tenginamara bridge on the Belagola road ; along the northern side of the road to the corner and then straight to the starting point on the Seringapatam road.
